

Jim's Bio:

Growing a seed stock/grass fed beef herd of American Aberdeen's and vegetables keeps him quite busy.

Jim is the first Vice President of Susquehanna county farm bureau, serves on the state board, executive committee, Friends of Ag Foundation board, is vice chair of the state Ag Pro committee and is on the AFBF Promotion an Education Committee.

Jim was recently honored as the 2019 Susquehanna County Citizen of the Year by the Economic Development Board, the County Commissioners, and the Progress Authority for strong support, leadership, and dedication to the agricultural community in Susquehanna county.

Jim is the Vice President of the North East Aberdeen Association and represents the north east on two national association committees.

Between dairy farming and now beef farming Jim spent 23 years in ministry and continues to teach, counsel, and fill in preach in his local church.

With son Jim, Heather, and 4 incredible grandchildren only 5 miles away Jim and Kim are enjoying family and farming.
